FOREWORD

The heritage of the past helps to determine the pattern of the future. In keeping with this thought, the staff and I have selected the Oley Academy bell as the theme of the 1966 Olean. Because it had been a symbol of the long history of education in the Oley Valley, the bell was hung in a place of honor outside the new junior-senior high building in 1961. It is a silent memorial to those countless children who, from the days of the Stanley steamer to the days of the Gemini space capsule, have received an education in the schools of our area.

Cast in 1874 by the Nenelly Bell Foundry of West Troy, New York, the bell was located in the Oley Academy Building on Main Street from 1875 to 1916. In that year it was removed and placed in the steeple of the Weist Schoolhouse. There it remained until 1930 when the school was vacated and the pupils were transferred to what today is called the Oley Elementary Center. The bell was then placed in storage and almost forgotten, but fortunately for our school it was unearthed at last and now occupies its prominent place at the auditorium entrance.

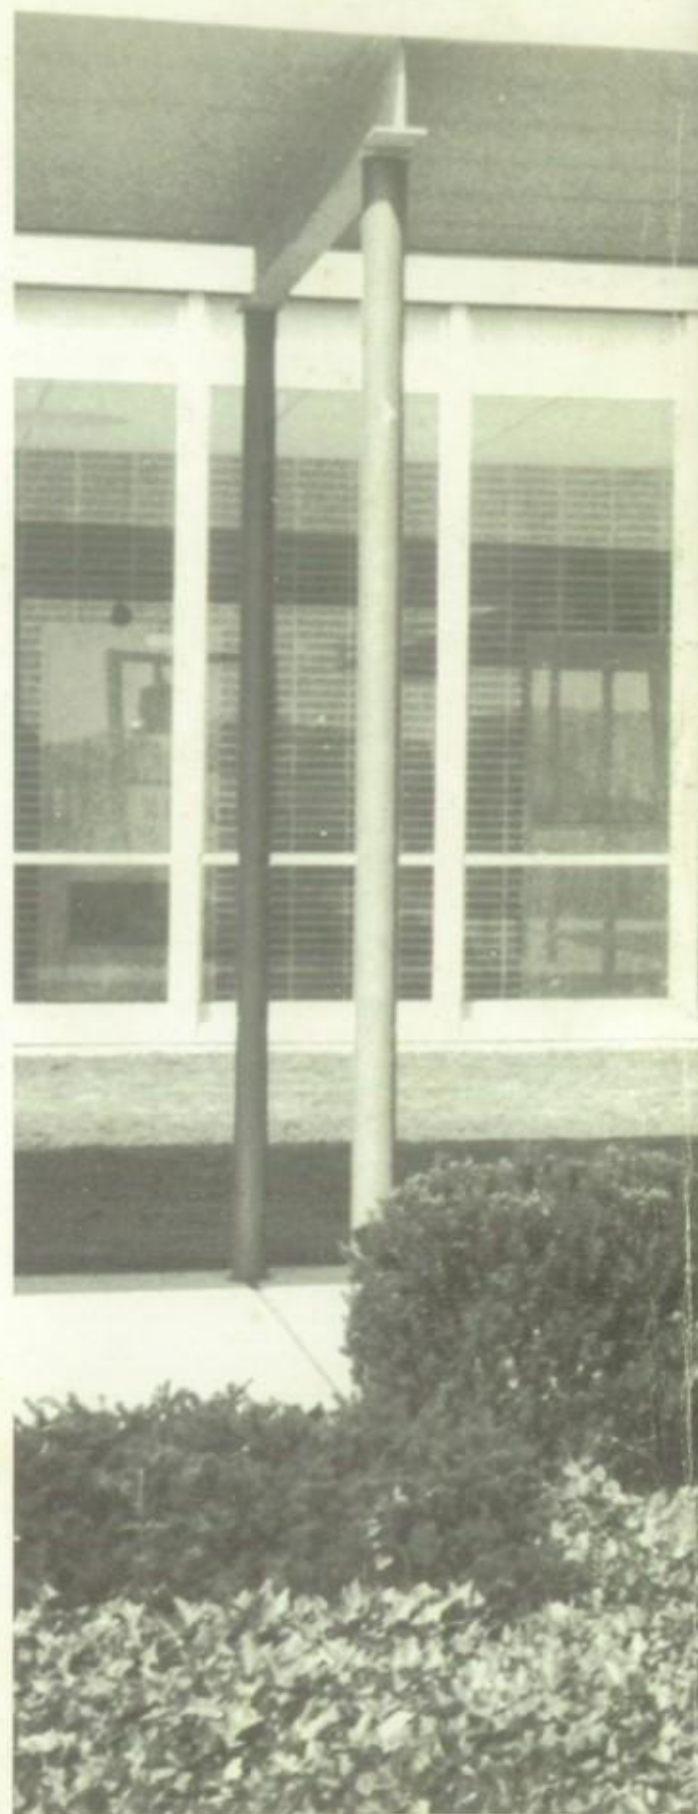

Nearly a half-century ago, the late Congressman Daniel K. Hoch, a native of Oley and a graduate of the Academy, wrote the following lines honoring the bell:

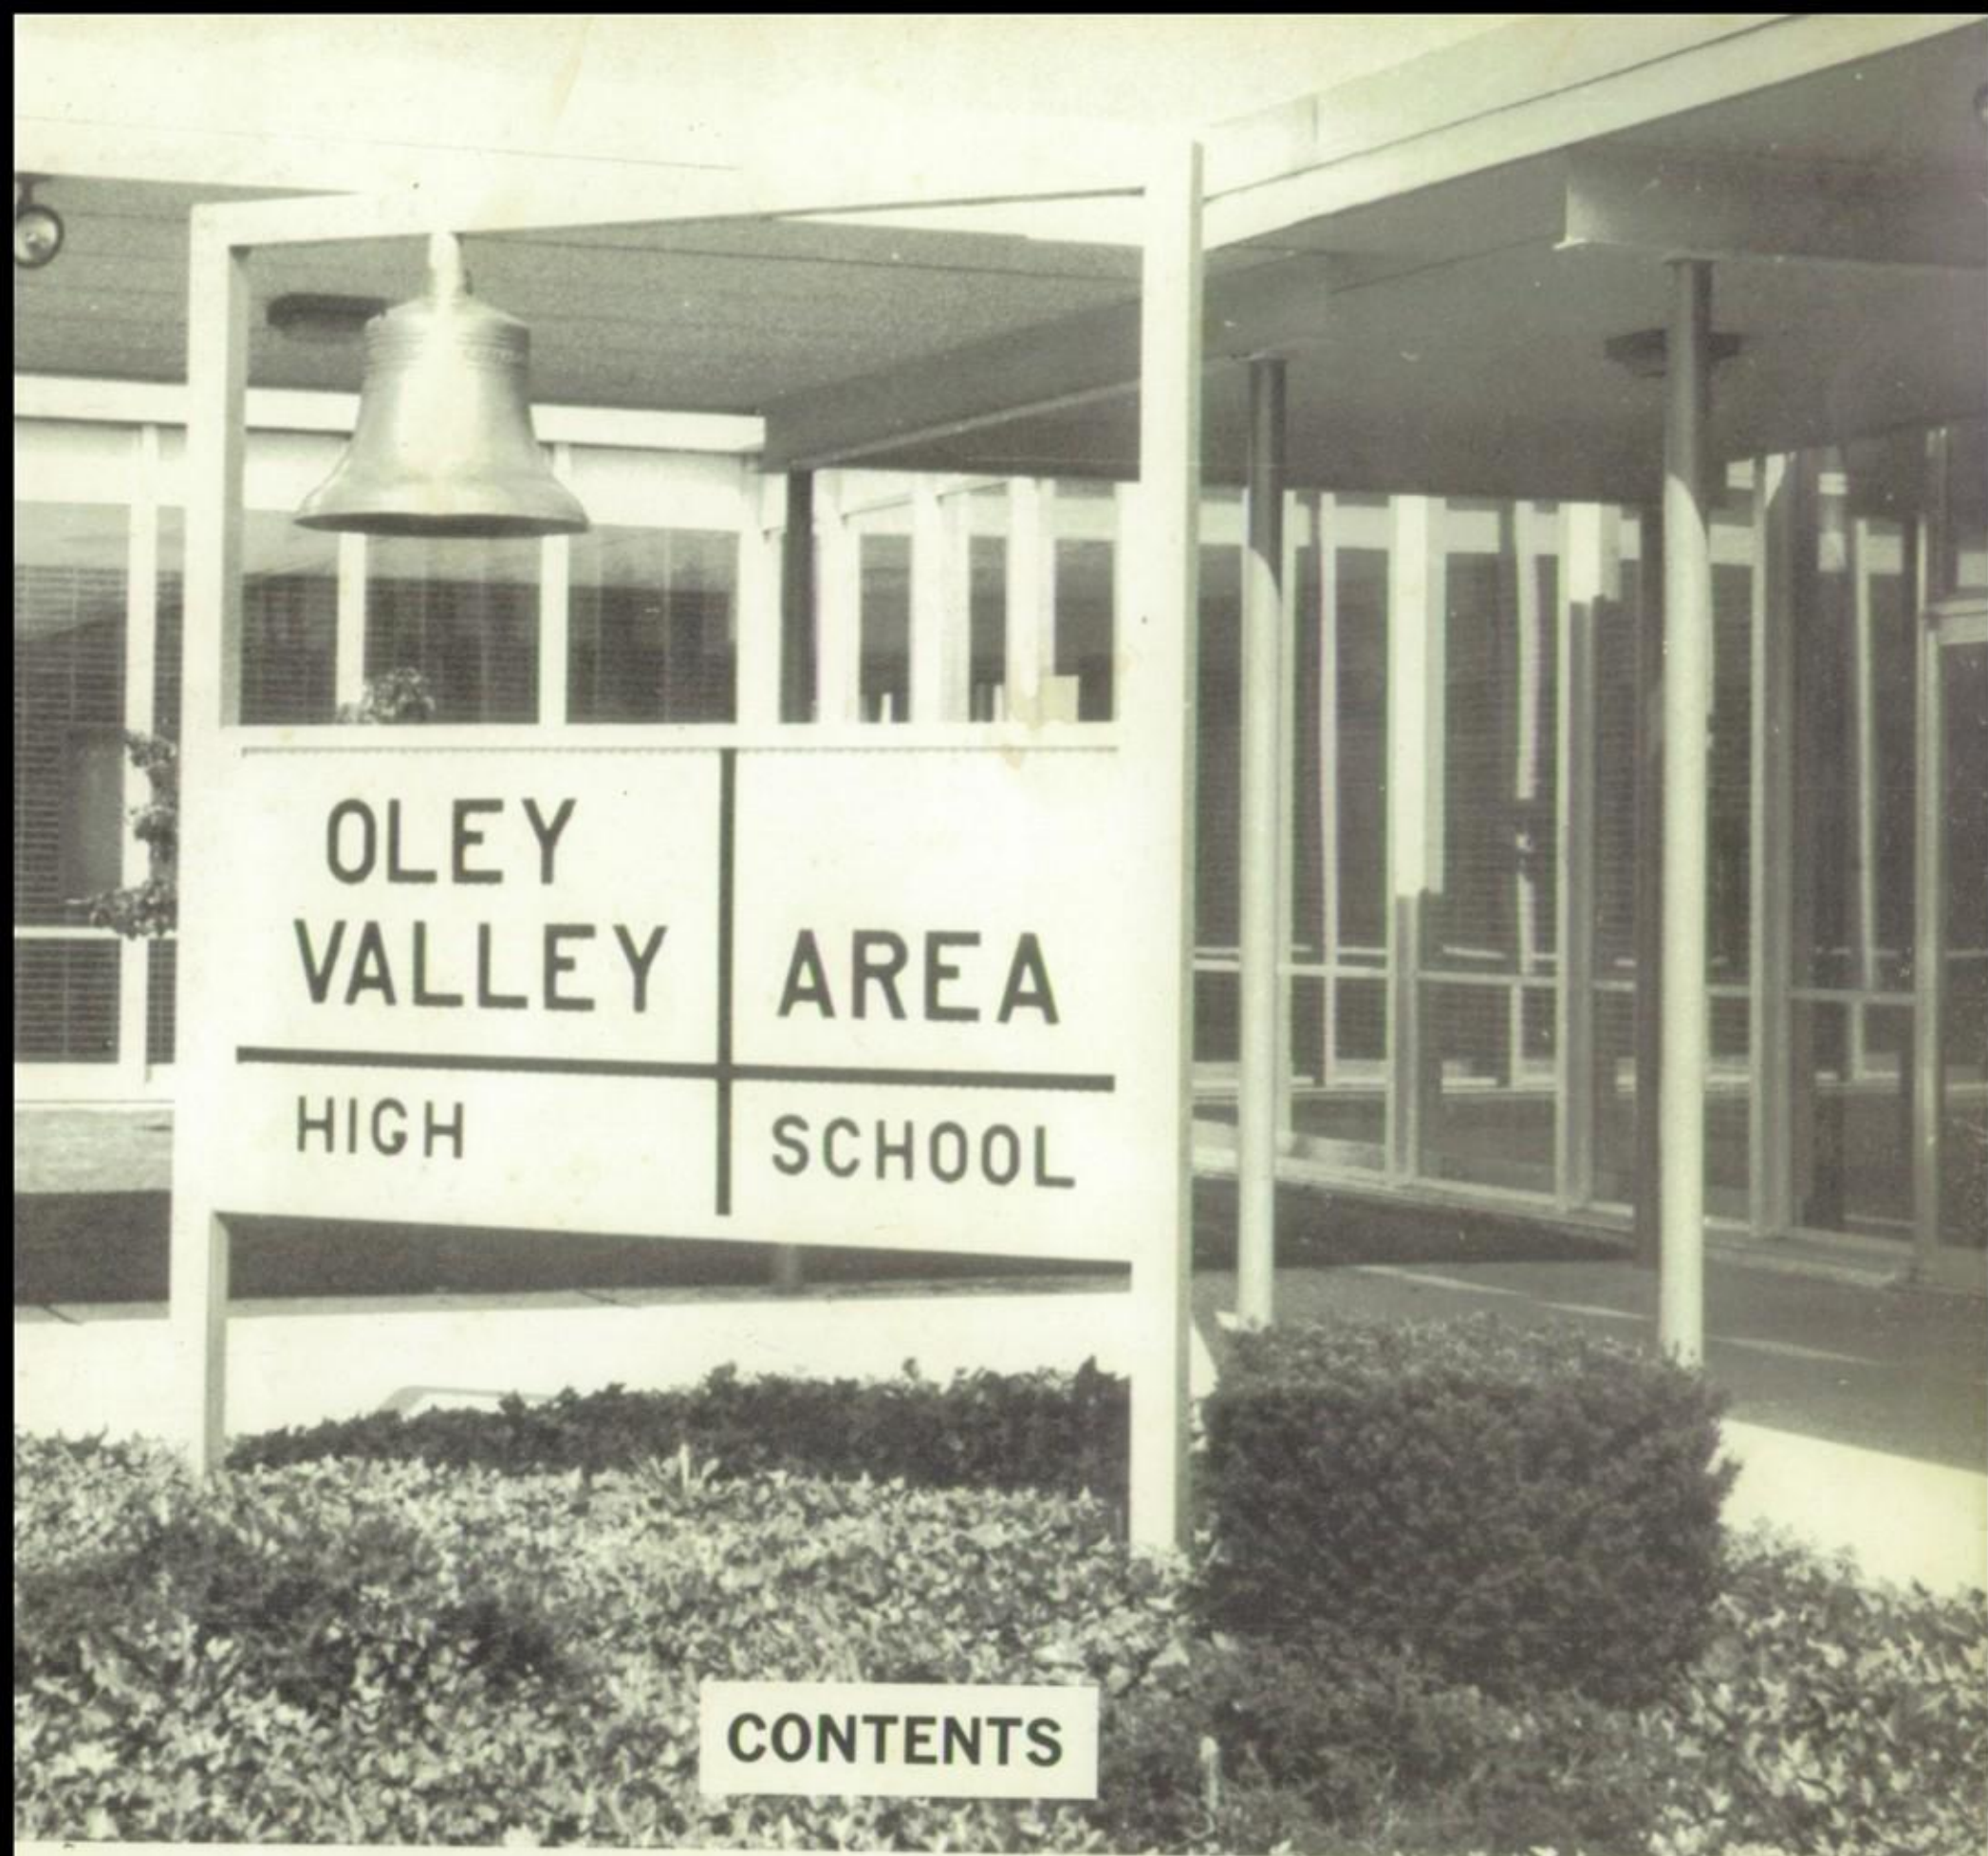

Backward, turn backward,
O time on your way,
Make me a boy again —
Just for today.
Let me run in yon playground,
And hear the bell toll —
Let me feel once again
Childhood's thrill in my soul.
Let me go to my books,
And my lessons recite;
Send me home where the crickets
Sing through the moonlight.
Give me but one day
Of this childhood's delight —
Then I'll go back to manhood,
Its battles to fight.

It is our hope that this rich heritage will not be forgotten as we move into the complexity of the space age.

In conclusion, I would like to thank the many people who gave so generously of their time and energy to help compile this annual.

MR. ROBERT J. LESKO

Dedication

We, the Graduating Class of 1966, take pride in dedicating our yearbook to Mr. Robert J. Lesko. Our first encounter with him was in a seventh grade geography class; when we became Juniors, we renewed our acquaintance as American history students. And now, in homeroom and in class affairs, we again come into contact with the cheery personality that once warmed the all-too-cold "Bingo Building." We would like to take this final opportunity to express our appreciation to Mr. Lesko for the time and energy which he so willingly shared to make our years at Oley ones we will always remember.

"A teacher affects eternity;
he can never tell where his influence stops."

— Henry Brooks Adams

OUR PRINCIPALS STRESS EXCELLENCE

Mr. Woodrow S. Herbein
Supervising Principal
B.S., Kutztown State College
M.S., University of Pennsylvania

TO THE CLASS OF 1966:

Shortly your status as a student in the Oley Valley Area Schools will have terminated. With such an exodus you will presently find yourselves in a new phase of life. Life will become increasingly difficult, more demanding, more realistic than you have probably pictured it. Your discipline gained from your years of training here should give you proper conduct into the solution of your problems. It is for you to decide what kind of life you wish to live and exemplify.

Each of you should give serious thought and put forth a supreme effort to continue to acquire knowledge with understanding and enter worthwhile activities that would make you wiser, kinder, more considerate, and generous during your daily life so that you may set an example for your fellow men.

Your parents have made many sacrifices to make your production possible. This community has given you an opportunity and now expects to derive some income from its investment. It is right that you enjoy your education and use it for profit and enrichment of life. However, you owe much and can repay your debt only by living useful lives.

The teachers and your board of education wish to express their wishes for your success as you continue along life's highway. Congratulations to the Class of 1966!

TO THE CLASS OF 1966 — "Example Goes Farther Than Precept"

This maxim is not new to you. Many times during your school life your teachers have referred to it and you, yourself, may have referred to or written frequently about this adage.

You, the Class of 1966, can set an example and, by this, leave a heritage for those that follow. In the early days of your senior year, you have set a better-than-average example. This should not cease at graduation, but each of you should take with you all that this adage implies.

While you are at Oley Valley Area High School, as the senior members of the student body, you set the example for the school. By being specimens for personal growth, tolerance, respect for truth, aware of the rights of others, and high academic achievement, you will have contributed to Oley Valley Area High School, while at the same time you will be taking a very desirable something with you.

From time to time you will be reminded of the increased opportunities your school has offered compared to those offered a generation or two ago. Rightly so, for the challenges you face are greater; you must be the better prepared to meet them. Use your abilities and in so doing keep ever in mind your birthright to freedom. The magnitude of your heritage to this way of life surpasses anything man has thus far achieved on this earth. It will probably remain thus.

THEIR COOKING MAKES OUR

Any student who has enjoyed a hot lunch in our cafeteria can testify to the efficiency of the kitchen staff. In addition to providing a tasty and well-balanced meal every day of the school year, the ladies never fail to have a smile for everyone. These charming cooks certainly deserve a vote of thanks and admiration, for it is no easy task to keep food for more than 800 people piping hot and ready to eat through a period of 75 minutes. Their job does not even end when the last person leaves the serving line. They must clean up a littered cafeteria and wash all the dishes and utensils, besides planning the meal for the next day. The lot of a member of the kitchen staff is not an easy one, but we, of the Senior Class, know it will not be thankless.

ART OF COMMUNICATION ACQUIRED

Language is man's most effective medium for communication of his ideals, hopes, beliefs, and thoughts. Words are vital in the thought process itself. Thinking does not occur first and then get translated into words; words help thought along. It is the teacher of the language arts who can lead the student to the development of competence in the language skills. Our English Department, therefore, is designed to show the student the need for correctness in language, so that he can in his turn express himself clearly, efficiently, and arrestingly.

Our English teachers also unlock the door to the storehouse of literary achievements. The classics, the contemporary writings, the magazine, and the newspaper are in this storehouse. Through the study of the accomplishments of great minds, students enlarge their vocabularies and acquire a wide cultural background.

BUSINESS COURSES PREPARE FUTURE OFFICE WORKERS

Business education is designed to give students training in areas ranging from typewriting and stenography to the complexities of operating office equipment.

Keeping pace with the ever-increasing involvement of more and more individuals in some phase of the business world, Oley has seen fit to offer commercial electives to non-business education students, not solely for the purpose of vocational training, but for practical use and convenience.

The continued expansion of American business will depend largely upon the attitudes and understanding of business principles learned by today's commercial students.

SPECIAL EDUCATION MEETS INDIVIDUAL NEEDS

Our Special Education Department expends a great deal of time and effort in providing the specialized training and instruction required by those children at Oley whose needs are exceptional.

Directed by Mr. Sosh, the students enrolled in this class engage in discussions, handicrafts, and work geared to meet their individual needs and abilities. In addition, many of the boys and girls prove themselves helpful to both the cafeteria and office staffs by performing certain tasks.

WORDS BY
Phyllis Quaintance, '40

We sing to Oley Valley High School,
Noble and strong.
To thee with loyal hearts,
We raise our song.
May your spirits never die,
Nor your walls decay.
We will sing our praises,
Through endless days.

MUSIC BY
Paul Fretz, '41

We make for thee a crown,
Rest on thy brow.
Pride, honor, glory, love,
Before thee bow.
Swelling to Heaven's high
Our praises ring.
Pray that Oley Valley High School
Survives all things.

In Memoriam

To an Athlete Dying Young

The time you won your town the race
We chaired you through the market-place;
Man and boy stood cheering by,
And home we brought you shoulder-high.

Today, the road all runners come,
Shoulder-high we bring you home,
And set you at your threshold down,
Townsmen of a stiller town.

Smart lad, to slip betimes away
From fields where glory does not stay,
And early though the laurel grows
It withers quicker than the rose.

Eyes the shady night has shut
Cannot see the record cut,
And silence sounds no worse than cheers
After earth has stopped the ears.

Now you will not swell the rout
Of lads that wore their honors out,
Runners whom renown outran
And the name died before the man.

So set, before its echoes fade,
The fleet foot on the sill of shade,
And hold to the low lintel up
The still-defended challenge cup.

And round that early-laureled head
Will flock to gaze the strengthless dead,
And find unwithered on its curls
The garland briefer than a girl's.

THE MARCHING LYNX

The 1965 — 1966 school term saw Oley's newly re-organized "Marching Lynx" engage in several award-winning performances.

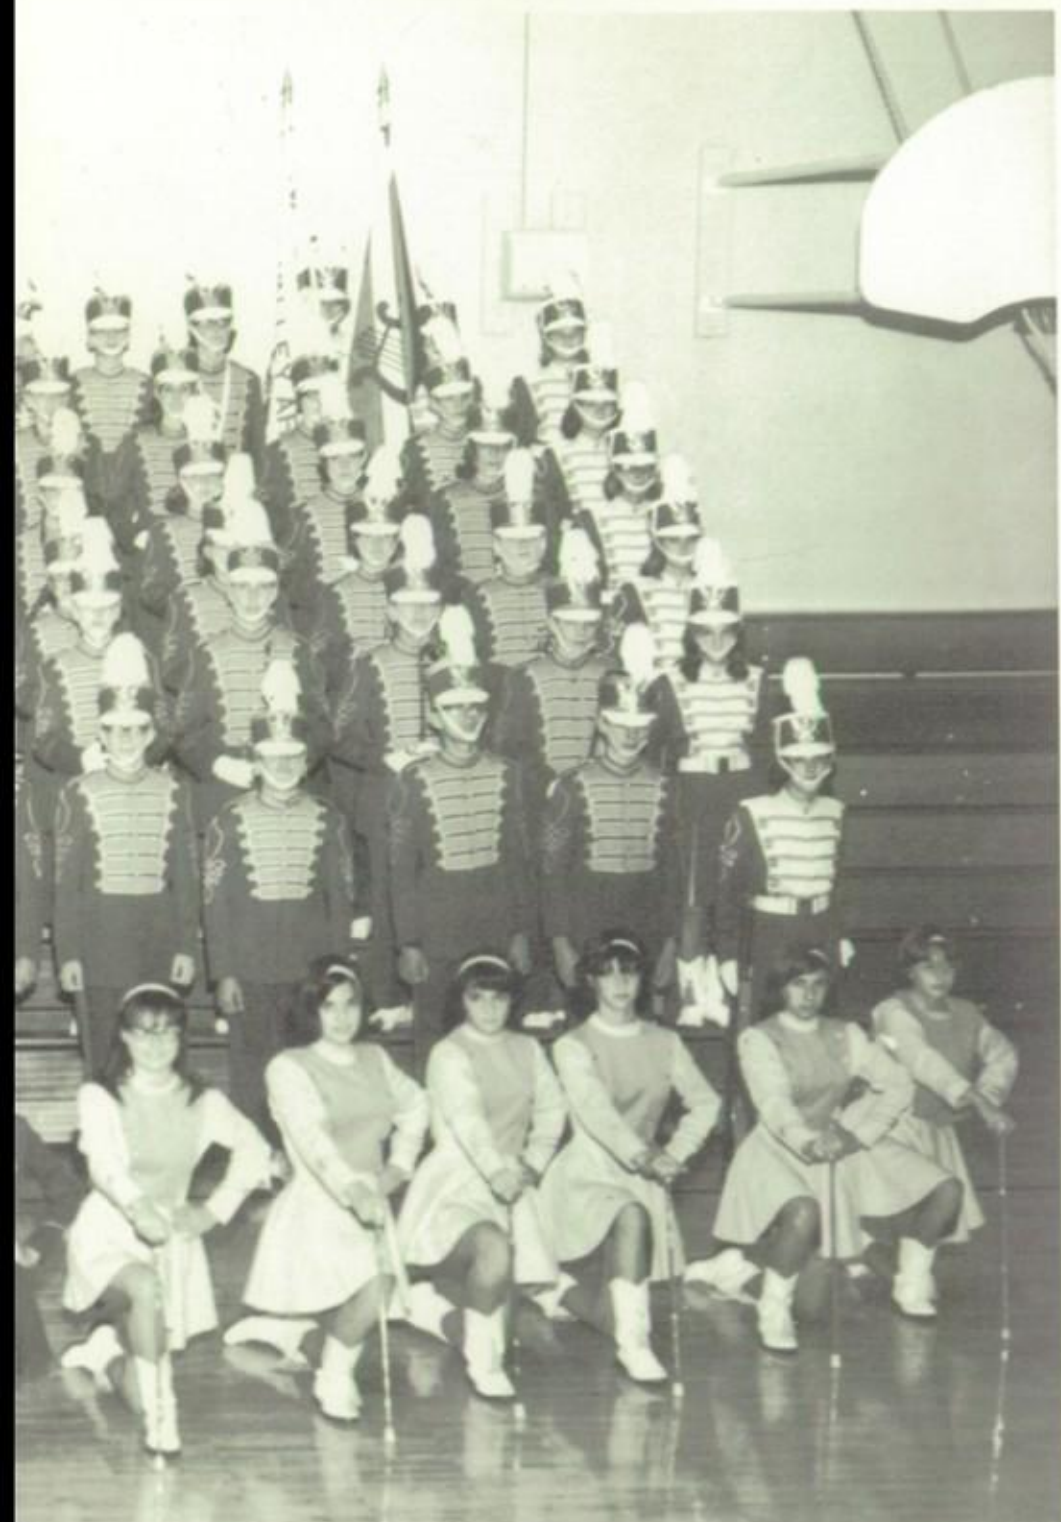

More than 100 members, under the leadership of Paul E. Labe, Jr., Drum Major, made their premier appearance as a field band in October at the Springford Competition. There the results of those long summer hours of drilling were clearly evident in the intricate maneuvers they performed.

During the Hallowe'en season, the group paraded in various of the surrounding communities — such as Pikeville, Blandon, and Boyertown.

Reading's annual Christmas Parade, held in late November, provided yet another opportunity for our marching units to shine. The band received a 79% rating, thereby placing it fourth in competition with 14 other bands.

Later, in the spring, the "Marching Lynx" made a change from a street organization into the Symphonic Band which performed so wonderfully at our annual Spring Concert.

Directed by Mr. Bruce K. Betz, whose flashing baton could be seen flying in virtually almost any direction, the "Marching Lynx" was truly an organization of which Oley Valley Area High School could justly be proud.

Director

AS JUNIORS, WE PRESENTED "LAUGHING IRISH EYES"

This three-act comedy, directed by Mr. Weaver of the Foreign Languages Department and presented on March 19 and 20, 1965, in the High School Auditorium, was written by Charles George and produced by special arrangement with Baker's Plays of Boston.

Molly Shannon (played by Linda Sterner) comes to work as a maid for the aristocratic Mrs. Della Oberon (Deanna Fry), in which household Molly's mother (Karen Bender) is already employed as housekeeper. Molly's fiance, young Tom McFadden (John Seidel) arrives at about the same time to take up duties as chauffeur. No one is more puzzled than Molly's mother, for she knows that neither of the two young people has ever been employed as a servant before! What is their object? One mystifying situation follows another until Act Three reveals the truth. But, in the meantime, Molly saves young Marguerite Oberon (Martha Schneider) from a disastrous marriage (to Joseph Wolfe) and is the means of promoting the Oberon son, Myron (Eric Zellner), into a famous composer. She also transforms Mrs. Oberon from an overbearing, haughty individual into the loveable Irish woman she was before she changed her name from O'Brien to Oberon!

Supporting players included Diana Rothermel (as Dolores Dawn, a young prima donna), Leslie Conrad (as Annie Rooney, a maid), and Donald Keller (as Dany McGuire, a chauffeur).

K. Bender warns M. Schneider as E. Zellner (partly hidden) and J. Seidel look on.

L. Sterner and E. Zellner are caught during one of the play's romantic moments.

Members of the cast included STANDING: D. Fry, K. Bender, M. Schneider, J. Wolfe, E. Zellner, D. Keller. SEATED: L. Sterner, L. Conrad, L. Schuler (prompter), J. Seidel, M. Trout (prompter), and D. Rothermel.

AND, AS SENIORS,

"MARRYING MARGARET"

Members of the cast included SEATED: L. Schuler, C. Cleaver. STANDING: D. Weber, D. Keller, J. Wolfe, M. Yorgey.

On November 5 and 6, 1965, the Senior Class presented Charley George's "Marrying Margaret." Produced by arrangement with the Heuer Publishing Company of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and directed by Mr. John S. Bankert, Jr., the play concerned the misadventures of the Hunter family.

Leila (Diana Rothermel) and Winifred (Leslie Conrad) Hunter, two vivacious young girls, are engaged to the Statton brothers (Marty Wegman and Jeffrey Zackon). Margaret Hunter (Janice Delp), the older sister, is just 25 — but she is quite different from her sisters. She is plain, matter-of-fact, uninterested in men or pretty clothes, and a confirmed bookworm. In all these eccentricities she is supported by her Aunt Harriet (Karen Bender), a dyed-in-the-wool spinster. Mr. Hunter (Joseph Wolfe) will not allow the young daughters to wed until Margaret secures a husband. To find a mate for her will not be an easy task, but the sisters decide to do that very thing — at any cost! They even insert an ad in the newspaper for a husband for sister Margaret!

However, to complicate matters, Aunt Harriet advertises at the same time for a man of all work. When the "handy man" (Eric Zellner) and the would-be husbands (Robert Troxel and Eric Goetz) begin making applications, the situation becomes quite funny. Margaret plays the game well and wins the man she has been waiting for. Even the elderly Aunt finds her mate.

Highlighting the third act was a costume party. Among the masqueraders were: Linda Schuler, Dianne Weber, Donald Keller, and Mark Yorgey. Cheryl Cleaver portrayed Ethel, the Hunter maid.

Each fall since 1947, the community of Oley has hosted an old-fashioned country fair — without midway, sideshows, barkers, and with free admission to everything for everyone.

The objective of the Fair Association is to acquaint people with the finest products of the community, especially those in agriculture and homemaking, and thereby increasing local commerce. It also aims to provide an opportunity for all citizens to work together for the common good and develop a finer esprit de corps.

Credit for originating the idea of a family-centered fair in Oley must go to Mr. Warren Levengood, farmer and native son of our community, and Mr. F. H. Stauffer, educator and former administrator of the school district. Together these two men consulted the local veterinarian, Dr. Bernard Zackon, a member of the Oley Lions Club. After some discussion and much serious study, the club members voted to provide the necessary financial backing and thereby undertook to secure a charter for a fair association.

At last, on October 12, 1947, after nearly three years of careful planning and hard work by the people of the community, the first Oley Valley Area Community Fair was opened.

INVEST IN LEARNING

OPEN HOUSE, NOV. 9, 1965 . . .

This year during American Education Week, Oley opened its doors for an evening when parents were invited to visit and tour the building and meet their children's teachers.

Following the visitation period, Mr. Hand's 9A Pennsylvania History-Civics class presented a special program in the auditorium.

Slides and narrations dealing with the history of education in the Oley Valley constituted the major part of the program.

Acting as guides for the "Open House" were members of Miss Clemmer's Future Teachers of America Club and of the Student Council.

ADULT EDUCATION . . .

Many adults of the Oley Valley area took advantage of the opportunities afforded them by the School Board to attend evening classes from October to May. This year art, sewing, and type-writing were offered to fill an important need in our community.

Under the direction of Mrs. Woodfall, members of the art class studied ceramic making, leather working, and drawing and painting in the various media.

Mrs. Tibbetts and Mrs. Lewis instructed their classes in the use and care of the various brands of sewing machines, the proper selection of clothing, the alteration of patterns, and the construction of garments.

Adults enrolled in the typing class were taught the basic skills in using a typewriter by Mr. Long.

Look at the pattern, Mrs. Tibbetts!

OUR PAST IS BUT A PROLOGUE

Oley's educational history is almost as old as the community itself. The French Huguenots, Germans, and Quakers who in the early 1700's settled the Oley Valley brought with them intelligence, devotion, skill in the arts and industries, and, more importantly, an interest in learning.

Children were first educated in the home with their parents as teachers and the Bible and other religious writings as the sole textbooks. This was the nucleus from which has grown the present school system of the Oley Valley.

As the community became more thickly populated, the settlers faced the problem of providing suitable formal educational facilities for their children. Together with the Moravians who were equally interested in education, in 1742 they established an educational center on the outskirts of what today is the village of Oley. However, in the ensuing years it became necessary to furnish additional facilities for learning. Therefore, neighbors often joined in organizing private or "pay" schools which students could attend by paying their teacher from five to ten cents per day.

Then, in 1834 the Pennsylvania legislature passed a law known as the Free School Act which constituted the beginning of our present-day "public" school system. However, in spite of their zeal for educating their children, it was not until 1849, fifteen years later, that a majority of the local citizens voted to accept the provisions of this law. In the years immediately following, twelve "common" or one-room elementary schools were established in Oley Township.

Yet, for some of the local far-seeing inhabitants, the common school, marking a decided advancement in the township's educational system, was not the answer. In December of 1857, wanting for their children something better than the one-room schools could afford, a number of prominent men founded the Oley Academy — the first community attempt at secondary education.

Although known throughout the area as an outstanding school, the Academy suffered financial difficulties, especially after the establishment of the Normal School at Kutztown. Nevertheless, it continued to operate until 1905, when it was taken over by the Oley Township School Board. This signaled another advancement in Oley's educational history, for, although the functions of the Academy were suspended, the transfer instituted the beginnings of the Oley Township High School. Now increased educational opportunities were available for those young people heretofore unable to afford the expense of a private academy.

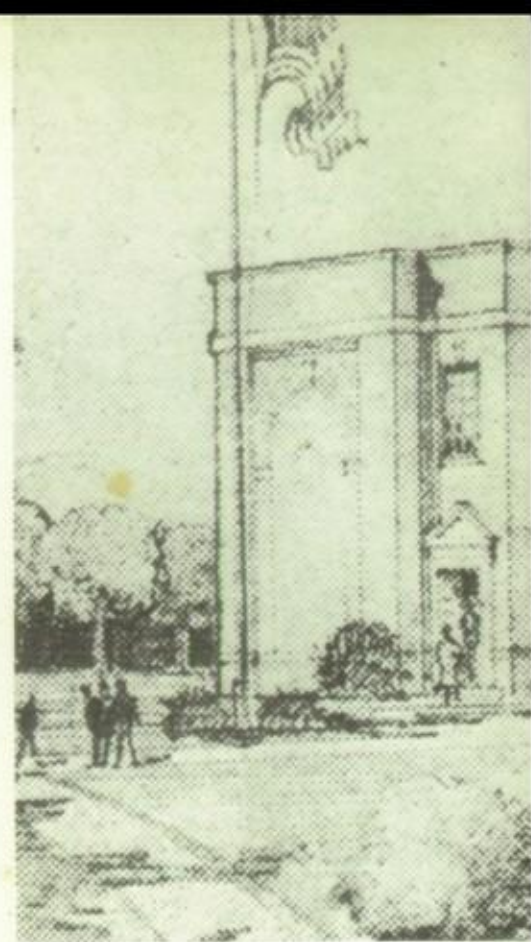

In what had been the old Academy's three-story frame boarding house, located on Main Street, classes of the new secondary school were held from 1905 to 1916, when a two-story brick building was erected on the same site. This latter structure, incidentally, now houses the Oley Fire Company. During the years from 1905 to 1930, the former Academy classroom building itself served as an elementary school for the village of Oley.

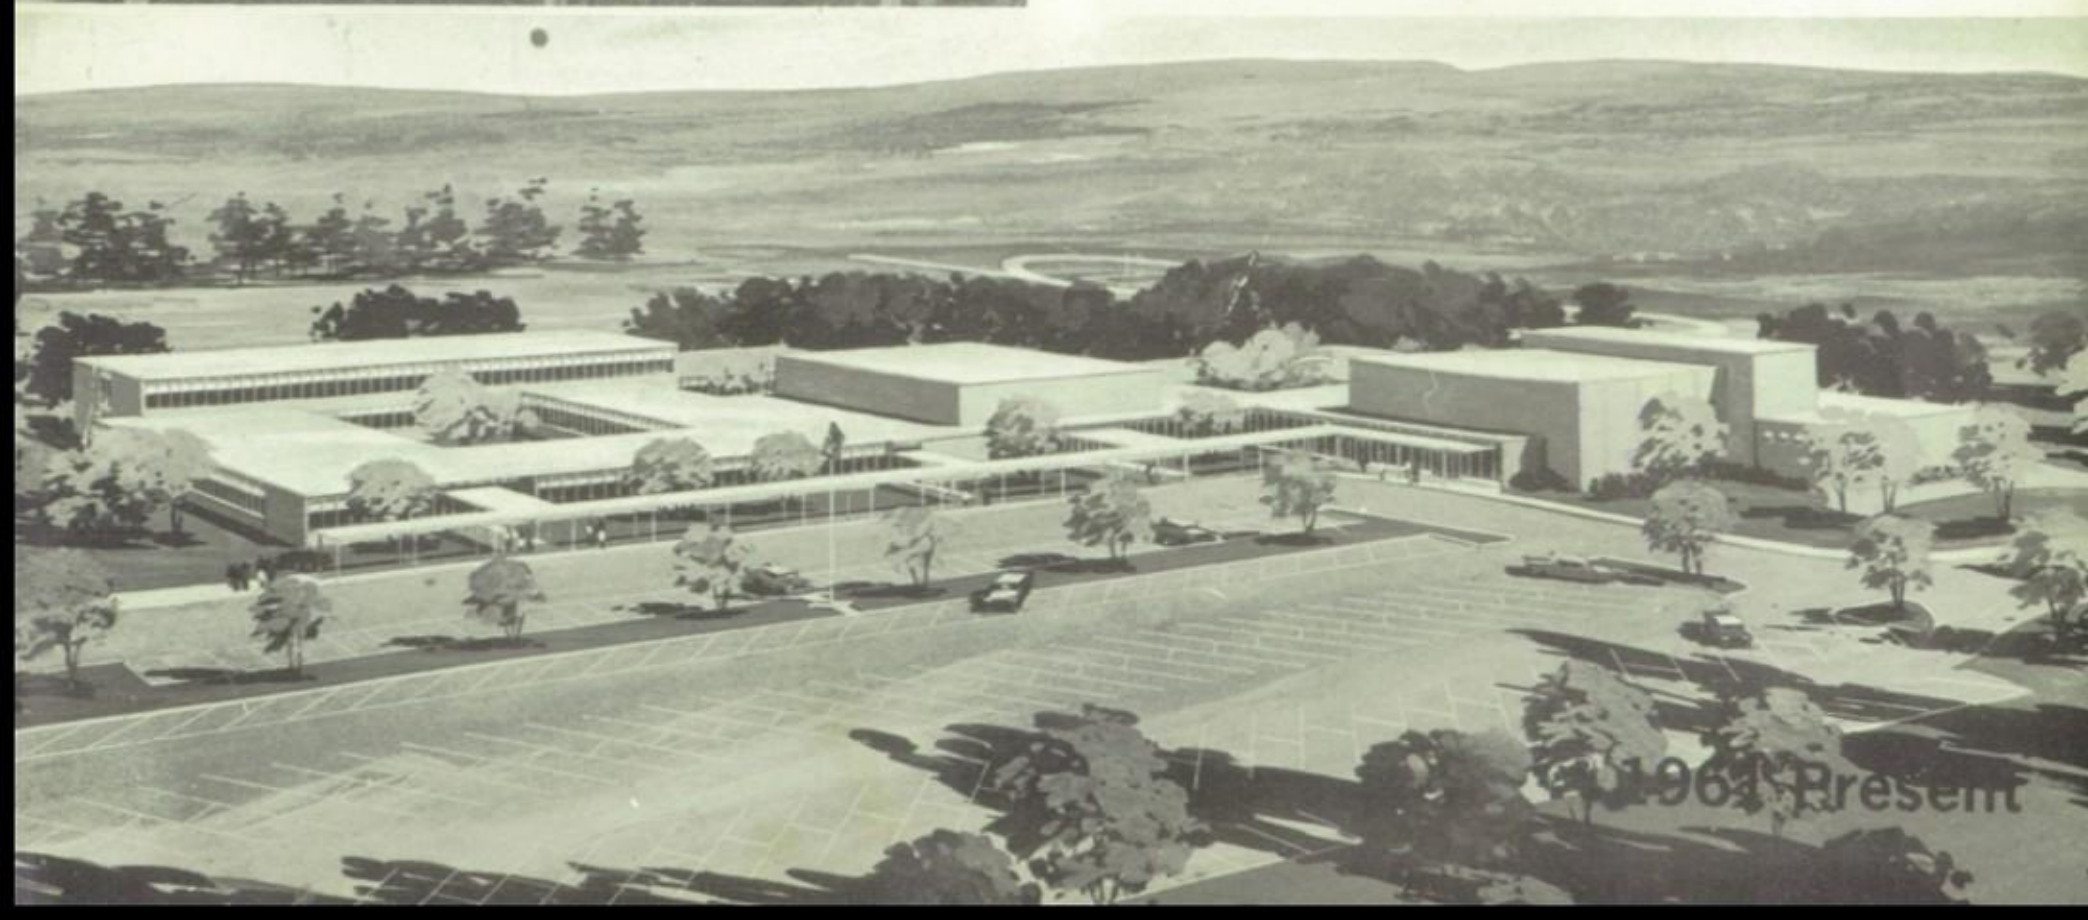

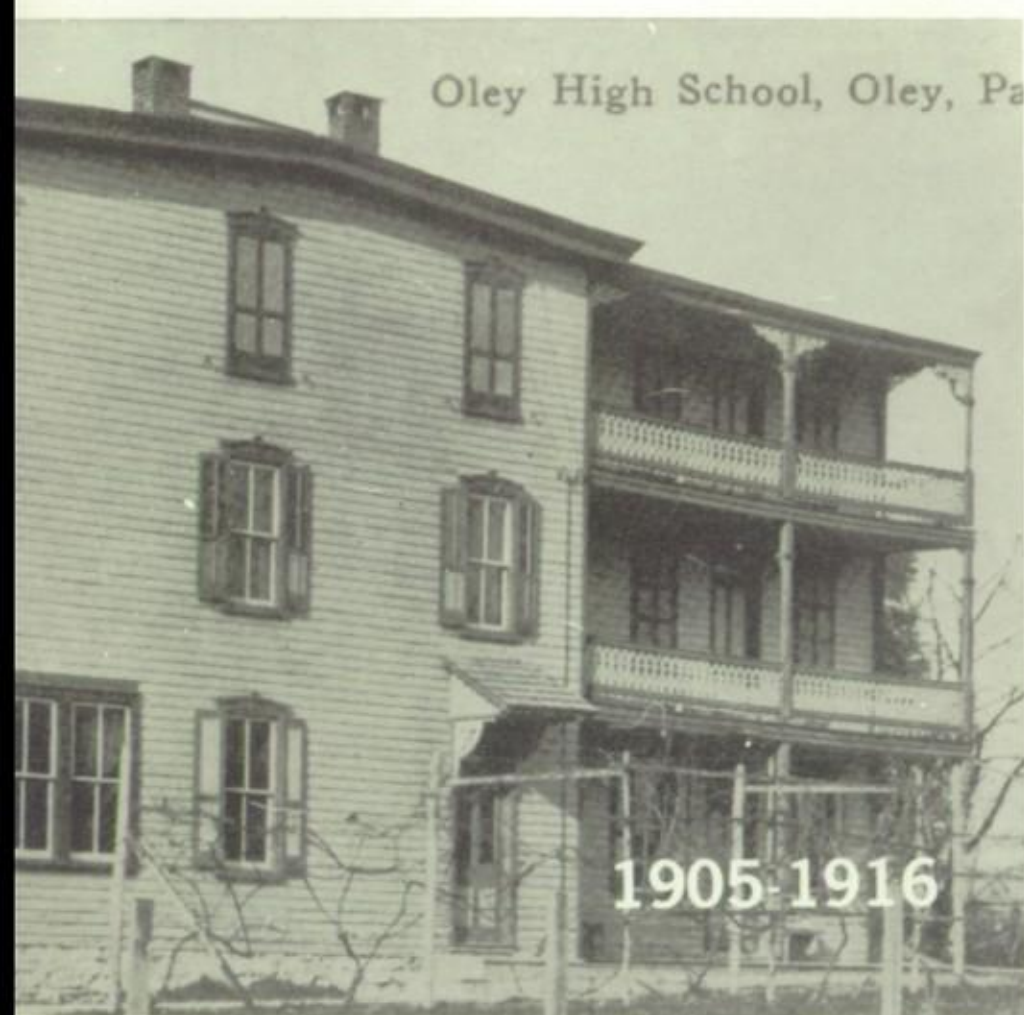

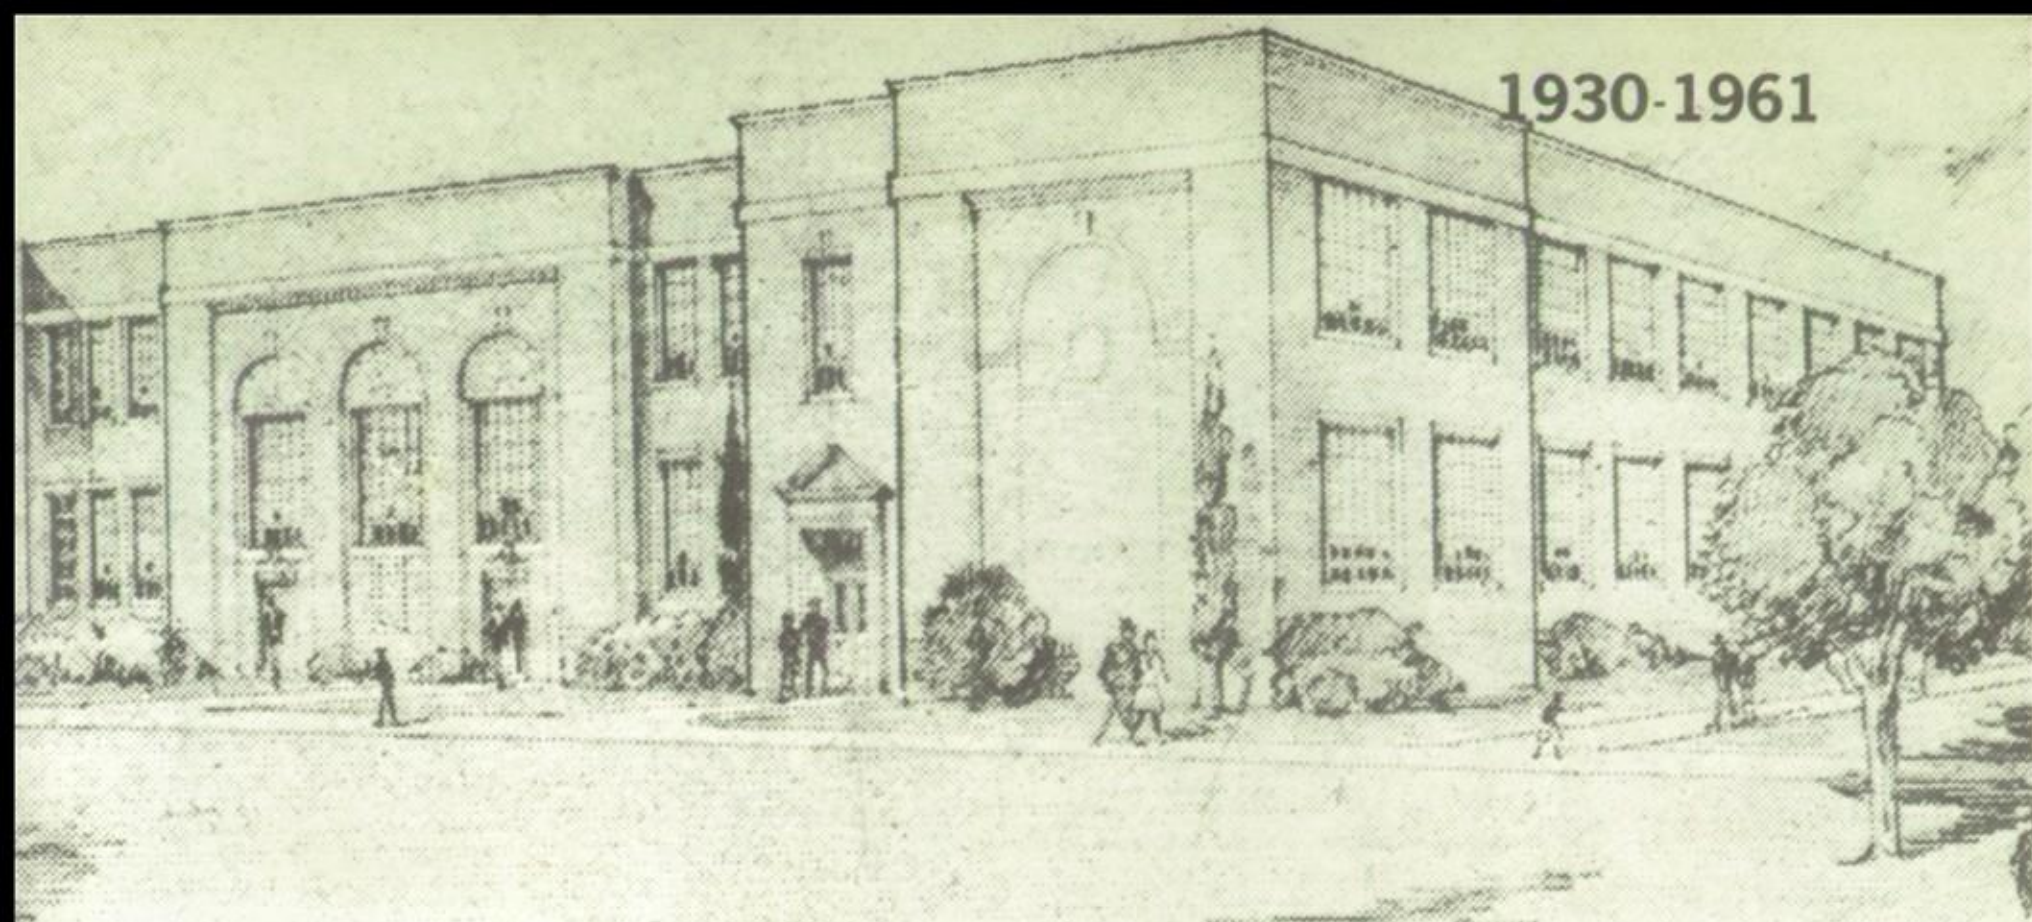

However, by the mid-1920's, many of the small one-room schools throughout the township were becoming unsafe because of the large numbers of children which they had to accommodate. After long consideration, the citizens of the township, in 1928, voted to erect a twenty-four-room consolidated structure, which was to serve all the children in the district and replace those antiquated and overcrowded schools.

This building, occupied for the first time on September 2, 1930, brought about a new educational outlook to the people of our area. It meant comfort and convenience, and, more importantly, widened and equalized the educational opportunities for all the children.

Finally, in 1956, the districts of Alsace, Ruscombmanor, and Pike voted to form a jointure with Oley. The resulting sharp rise in pupil population using Oley's secondary facilities created the obvious need for a new building program. Construction of our present junior-senior high building was begun in 1959 and completed in 1961. Several months later, the 1930 structure, after extensive conversion for elementary use, was ready for occupancy, making it possible, at long last, to close all the inadequate one-room schools in the system.

Obviously, then, during the past two hundred-odd years, the Oley Valley Area Schools have been moving ever forward and serving well the needs of the people. Let us hope that our educational system will continue to provide a firmly welded link, joining the schoolroom with the community in the accomplishment of our ultimate aim of education in Oley: "ENTER TO LEARN — LEAVE TO SERVE."

THE SCHOOL SEAL

The Oley Valley Area Schools is one of the comparatively few systems in Berks County which are fortunate to have their own distinctive school seal.

Our seal, designed in 1930 and printed here and throughout this annual, is an achievement of the combined efforts of a number of persons, each of whom contributed something essential to its creation. Among these were Mr. Clinton Shilling, a Shillington artist, who did the actual drawing; Professor Henry Sharadin, former Head of the Art Department at Kutztown State College; Mr. Edward Scholl, who was the architect for what is now the Oley Elementary Center Building; Mr. Newton W. Geiss, former County Superintendent of Schools and a teacher in our community for a number of years; and Mr. F. H. Stauffer, our Supervising Principal from 1927 to 1955.

Every feature in the seal's design is symbolic of some aspect or ideal of the Oley Valley. As most of the early settlers were of German and French origin, the shield follows the German heraldic custom of the three-part division; the small fleurs-de-lis are representative of the Huguenots who had fled to our area from their native France in search of religious freedom.

In order to pay tribute to the fact that the Oley Valley has always been a place where many religious faiths live together harmoniously, the designers included the motto, "In God We Trust."

Shortly after the first pioneer families settled here, they showed an interest in education; thus the lamp of knowledge. Balancing this is a sheaf of wheat signifying agriculture, the chief occupation of the valley ever since the early 1700's.

The Indian brave on the right represents the original inhabitants of our valley who, thinking it resembled a kettle, named it "Olink," which according to their dialect was the name of that implement. Hence the name "Oley" was contracted. Opposite him is the figure of a pioneer — Daniel Boone. Born in this area, he typifies the spirit of the early white settlers who carved a nation out of a wilderness.

Illuminating the entire seal is the sun, taken from the coats-of-arms of some of the original settlers: the DeLongs, Herbeins, DeTurks, Bertollets, and LeVans. To them, the sun was the source of all light and power.

The laurel wreath, encircling the seal, is a symbol of hope, achievement, and honor. It was the reward bestowed on the ancient Greeks and Romans in recognition of service to their country.

Of fine design, our school seal is a pictorial chronicle of the Oley Valley — its people, history, and activities. It is indeed representative of our community and of our school.

THE PROM,

Lights were dimmed . . . couples promenaded across the ballroom floor — girls graceful in long flowing gowns, boys dashing in formal attire. Which would be chosen to reign over the Junior-Senior Prom?

Then the magic moment arrived! Wesley Kegerise, II and Lyndell MacMoreland were crowned King and Queen. Rebecca Bieber was named as the Queen's Maid of Honor.

Palm trees, a background of bamboo panels, and a romantic atmosphere all contributed to transforming the Reading Country Club into a "South Pacific" setting. Music for the evening was provided by Johnny Barker and the Red Coats.

The prom was indeed successful in adding a very special touch to the end of school social life for the Seniors. It is hoped that these pages will help them remember the magic moments of this event.

BACCALAUREATE, AND COMMENCEMENT

To the 109 members of the Class of '66, the Sunday afternoon of May 29 and the Wednesday evening of June 1 will long be remembered as two of the most important days spent within the walls of OVAHS.

At the solemn and reverent Baccalaureate Service, a local clergyman gave the Seniors some pertinent advice intended to help them spiritually in their futures.

Climaxing public school life, the 60th annual Commencement Exercises were held in the auditorium. In a dignified ceremony, the Seniors received their diplomas as a symbol of many long years of diligent study.

Having been guided through 12 years of formal education, it is now up to each individual graduate to decide what he will make of his life and how he will affect the world outside OVAHS.

Ave atque vale!

FINIS . . .

In closing this thirtieth volume of the OLEAN, I would like to thank sincerely the many people who have made the publication of this pictorial record of the Class of 1966 possible.

To the administration, the faculty, and the student body of OVAHS goes my appreciation for their co-operation and support. And let me not forget to cite the varied contributions of my co-workers on the OLEAN staff (especially Leslie Conrad, our student photographer, and James Link, who designed the title page) for giving of their time and talent so that this yearbook might be published.

Last, I would particularly acknowledge the help of Mr. Fahrenbach, our advisor, who worked with and worried about this annual more than anyone else, and Gail Reider, my Assistant Editor.

Much can be learned from looking into days and events past, but it is equally important also that we learn to move forward. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, the great American poet, phrased it well when he wrote in Hyperion:

"Look not mournfully into the Past. It comes not back again. Wisely improve the Present. It is thine. Go forth to meet the shadowy Future, without fear, and with a manly heart."
